Background Information:

Title I, Part A, of the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 requires the state to ensure that local school divisions administer an annual assessment of English language proficiency for all limited English proficient (LEP) students in kindergarten through twelfth grades. For the 2003-2004 and 2004-2005 school years, the state- approved English Language Proficiency (ELP) assessment was the Stanford English Language Proficiency (SELP) test. For the 2005-2006 school year, as outlined in Informational Superintendent’s Memorandum, Number 51, dated August 26, 2005, school divisions were given flexibility to chose the SELP or submit locally developed and/or selected ELP assessments to the Virginia Department of Education for review.

Summary of Major Elements

Attached is the recommendation of the review panel for Board approval of locally developed and/or selected English Language Proficiency assessments for the 2005-2006 school year. The recommended assessments for approval meet the criteria stipulated in Informational Superintendent’s Memorandum, Number 51.
Superintendent's Recommendation:

The Superintendent of Public Instruction recommends that the Board of Education waive first review and approve the recommendations of the review panel for the locally developed and/or selected English language proficiency assessments.

Impact on Resources:

The Department of Education will continue to administer the SELP assessment for certain LEP students. The agency’s existing resources can absorb this responsibility at this time.
